

Are Child Protection Agencies Helping or Harming Children and Families?

Many children and their families are being affected by Child Protection agencies in communities across Canada. If you are a community-minded citizen and are concerned about the welfare of children and families in your community, then you should take the time to inform yourself about child protection agencies and how they may be affecting children and families in your own community!

Members of the public are invited to visit:

<http://www.canadacourtwatch.com>

To learn up to date information about the various child protection agencies in Canada spend hundreds of millions of dollars annually of our hard earned tax dollars, money which many parents and teachers would argue should be spent on health care and the education of our children!